NEON
ZARAVAN

WTF GUIDE

Acknowledgement of Country

We acknowledge our Elders Don, Chummy, and Glenys Collard and their moort (family) who have Welcomed us onto this land for a decade, since we first gathered here as Blazers in 2014. We pay our respects to the family, considering the passing of Don Collard in 2023. We lost a King and a leader, but he continues to walk beside his moort and keeps their wirin (spirit) strong. We acknowledge the Traditional Custodians of the Country we meet on, the Njaki Njaki, Ballardong, and Willman Nyoongar peoples. We acknowledge and respect their continuing culture and the contribution Nyoongar peoples make to the life of this region, and the balance and harmony they have maintained for 60,000 years.

When Nyoongar Country was invaded and colonisation began 194 years ago, Nyoongar peoples welcomed the settlers, showed them the waterholes, and tried to teach them how to live harmoniously on Country. We acknowledge the frontier wars, the intergenerational trauma, the 558 deaths in custody, and the grief and loss that continues today as a result of colonisation. This is still Nyoongar Country, sovereignty was never ceded. Nyoongar stories are woven in the landscape, and Nyoongar language gave the names 'Jilakin' and 'Kulin' to the lake and the town we travel to.

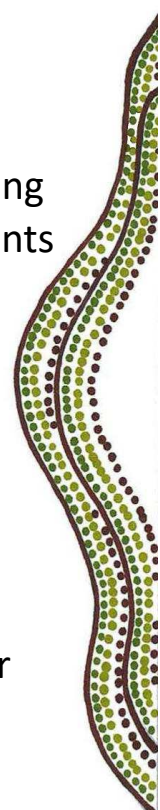

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples are the first peoples of Australia and the enduring custodians of the oldest living culture on earth. We recognise the strength, creativity, and resilience of all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and communities, and we celebrate the rich ways of knowing, being, and doing across Australia. Finally, we acknowledge our allies, who walk with us towards social justice, in a movement of the Australian people for a better future and a fuller expression of Australia's nationhood. Always was, always will be Aboriginal land.

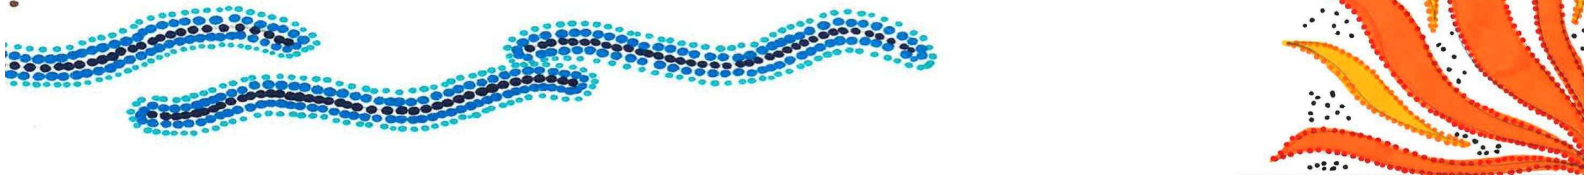

Each year we gather at the Bush Racetrack beside Jilakin Lake on farmland made available to us by the Lucchesi family, who came here generations ago, and we also thank them for hosting us here. We drive through Kulin, the township and people who have supported us for a decade, who built the roads and the facilities we see around us. We thank them for their continued support.

At our event, we share with the local peoples the great privilege of watching the moon and sun rise over these billion-year-old rocks, beside the remnants of a river that flowed south past here 130 million years ago, when the land now known as Australia was joined to Antarctica. We acknowledge that this is old Country that was here long before us and will be here long after us. The Blazing Swan principle of Radical Inclusion invites us to “welcome the stranger.” This transformative philosophy is central to our event and our community. When we reflect on what this means, we can understand that in this Country, we are the strangers who have been welcomed. When we then welcome the stranger that we meet at our event, we are passing on a gift that has been given to us and our ancestors, and we are sharing a special place that has been shared with us.

The Welcome To Country Ceremony will be held from 11am to 12:30 pm on Saturday, 30 March, at the Effigy.

WELCOME!!

Welcome to this year's WTF! The WTF Guide will help you navigate this Neon Caravan and find activities, art, theme camps, mutant vehicles and so much more at our amazing week-long experience! That said, every year there are fantastic things that aren't in the guide and self-discovery is the only way to find them. There is always something happening at Blazing Swan, so keep your heart open and your eyes peeled!

For 2024 we'll be printing this guide to gift to participants when they're greeted upon entry; it's also available as a pdf and as an accessible version on the website if you'd like to save a tree and download before you rock up.

As you may have noticed, it's also Blazing Swan's ten-year anniversary (check for special gems recounting the past ten years sprinkled throughout this year's WTF). In honour of this, the 2024 theme, Neon Caravan, is based on neon (the tenth element of the Periodic Table) and the concept of a caravan (a community on the move, sharing ideas and opportunities).

And finally, Blazing Swan would not have existed for the past decade and wouldn't be happening in 2024 without YOU. We simply wouldn't be here without everyone's support, be it gifting your time and energy to help the event run, gifting your art or theme camps, or supporting Blazing Swan through donations, fundraisers or buying a ticket to attend Neon Caravan.

We wish to thank everyone for everything that they bring, gift and sacrifice to make Blazing Swan the beautiful human experiment that it is! And special thanks go to you, as it's the participants who bring the magic that truly makes up Blazing Swan.

Love and dust,

Blazing Swan

I was one of the founders of Blazing Swan so I was in it from the initial meeting we held up at Paul Jorgensen's house. After attending Burning Man a few times, we wanted to try and recreate the experience back in our home state. But obviously on a much smaller scale. We were not sure if it would work so we did it mainly so we could have a bit of fun, create art and burn stuff.

– Damon Pages-Oliver

The return of best friend Lewis Viljoen from Burning Man 2007 - he looked part man and part possum. Bright eyes, bushy tailed and full of wonder and excitement. A man beast possessed by what he had just experienced. He proclaimed he would get something going for NYE 2007. This would be the first unofficial Blaze event. A couple of unofficial events later caught the attention of ex-South Africa Burns Council Member, Paul Jorgenson. I'm incredibly grateful to everyone who I've met and contributed along the way, however, I feel especially indebted to those two as I feel they were the original Blaze sparks, and my 16-year journey of all things Burn and Blaze may never have existed without them.

– Frank Mitchell

I loved being part of Alliance for a number of years. That as a collective group was very special - a lot of love, work and time went into the fundraiser, the build and the event...very special memories. I was also part of the team with Ned, Obi, Chan & Sharkus - creating mutant vehicle Psychorelic, that was such a laugh - creating a giant sphinx cat we DJ-ed on and projection mapped onto. Driving that truck was an experience haha.

– Sophie Roberts

I never imagined the impact our event would have when I joined a small group in the hills to discuss creating a Burning Man regional in WA. Since then, I've had the honour to represent Blazing Swan in meetings with the Burning Man organisation and organisers from other regionals, and we can all take great pride in the respect and admiration that our event has achieved in a relatively short time. Imagine what we'll all achieve in another 10 years.

– Matthew Robinson

Reaching out to the Shires in the wheatbelt was an interesting experience. You could hear the contacts mentally hang up on me when mentioning you would like to come to their Shire with the intent for a cultural festival culminating in burning large sculptures. Kulin Shire not only knew of Burning Man but were eager, and the towns folk were super friendly and helpful in those starting years.

The Jilakin Rock City Rangers

The Jilakin Rock Rangers are participants just like you, who volunteer their sober time at Blazing Swan to serve the safety and well-being of the Blazing Swan community.

Rangers act as non-confrontational Community Mediators and provide reliable information & public safety. They work in unison with emergency services and the production crew to help mediate disagreements, find lost kids, address safety concerns, direct participants to resources, or just add a fresh set of eyes to a tricky situation.

You can identify Rangers by their khaki shirts & wide brimmed hats with the Ranger logo, along with their tell-tale radios, ID lanyards & that they always walk in pairs. After dark they are easily spotted from afar with their bright LED bandoliers worn diagonally across the body.

If you find yourself in need of a Ranger, stop by Ranger HQ, their headquarters on the corner of Halcyon and Poppie Streets, identified by the Ranger flags and banners. There's a toasty burn barrel just outside to sit and have a yarn, ask a question or simply warm up on a chilly night.

Green Dot Rangers: the other kind of Ranger... Green Dot Rangers assist with situations involving participants who are in unusual states of mind: grief, disorientation, fear, confusion, or sensory overload, along with a wide range of related states fuelled by the sometimes intense & challenging nature of Blazing Swan. Green Dots, in conjunction with Medical, operate the Sanctuary space: a low-sensory environment for participants having an intense experience who are in need of a safe, monitored space. You can request Green Dot assistance via any Ranger, just flag one down and ask for help.

Let's Burn! Rangers will be seen en masse forming the Perimeter during the Effigy and Temple Burns. Please follow their instructions as they are here to help ensure everyone's safety, and they will help you get the best out of your burn!

Photography

The number one issue to be aware of when taking photos or video of people at Blazing Swan is the Principle of Consent. Not everyone wants their image captured, or not at certain times; it's important to ask their permission before taking their photo.

Consent is a clear verbal confirmation of "yes" in response to a request for permission. A response of "no" means no, and so does "maybe" or a shrug. There may be times when it's best to capture someone "in the moment," but in this case you should introduce yourself afterwards, show them the image and ask for their consent. If they request the photo be deleted, do so immediately and respect their decision.

Community Photographers: you can spot one of our pre-registered community photographers by their ID lanyard and unique number. Get in contact with them directly via the details below.

If you have a concern or question with a photographer or consent, politely let them know. If there's still an issue, tell a Ranger or the Event Team so it can be resolved. If it's a major concern, you can contact Blazing Swan: <https://blazingswan.com.au/contact-us/>

Only pre-approved drones are allowed on site. Feel free to report any drones you may see to the Rangers or Event Managers.

Liz invited me to my first blaze 'Inception' - before that I worked festivals for many years, Big Day Out, Soundwave etc... but this event was different, it was an event built by a community - and the community obviously wanted more of it. Because many more events sprung up from Blazing Swan, all orchestrated by various energetic and creative people who met and created at Blazing Swan. Blaze changed the face of events in Western Australia and has coloured the fabric of one of the most isolated towns in the world through its principles, whether you know it or not, and for that we can all be thankful.

Blazing swan is the birthplace of many things for me, and I am appreciative of what it has done for everyone involved.

– Liz & Kristan

*When myself and my colleague in Blazing Swan Comms put together and coordinated from our bedrooms, Blazing Swan's digital online burn during the COVID cancellation so that the community could still get to burn and connect with each other. This meant a lot because we found out later we were the first in the world to do it and even had meetings with another regional burn in South Carolina on what we learnt. I felt reincarnated as I unlocked my inner unicorn. Like the Blazing Swan effigy, even the beautiful things could turn to ash. I should not fear radical self-expression because life is temporary. There was a time when I had walked alone to explore myself. But finding a tribe could also be a part of the process of finding myself. I had received communal love through the Camp Unicorn tribe and the people at Blazing Swan. Their collective love was the foundation on which I would celebrate my existence.

– Oz

T.H.E. Internet (INT) – Log on to T.H.E. Internet in our intimate connection to cyberspace, as we decode the virtual realm with digitized visuals and beats that resonate into the global infostream. T.H.E. Camp (TCP) – You know those weird artworks / junk piles you see in paddocks & around Kulin? The Kulin tin horses have become a worldwide phenomenon. You can chat with a Kulin local & tin horse builder, just visit the T.H.E. Camp (Tin Horse Experience) & have a go at creating your own mini tin horse. There will be racing tin horses that you can take for a walk / trot / canter or round up some mates / strangers & find out who's the better jockey. Cat ear making? Yes, we have that too.

For me, it did change the culture and connection to people with similar interests & mindset. We become the community. – Peta - JP Belmondo

The Bakery (BFN) – Welcome to "The Bakery" where the sauna's hot and the buns are toasty. It's a vital pit stop to knead away your worries & rejuvenate for another day of adventures. Leave your oven mitts behind, grab a towel, & let our bakers make you feel fresh out of the oven! For your safety please only enter sauna sober and hydrated!

The Birds Nest (BDN) – The Birds Nest crew have dusted off their feathers for one final hoorah. Expect the return of the shimmering disco dome: providing a safe and inclusive dancefloor in the heart of South Camp Alley. Residents spin toe tapping grooves to fill your soul. We bring the boogie, the beats and the Birdie bar, which this year will be egg-cellent. Love and dust

The Church of Belligerence (CoB) – You hoped to fill it with work, purchases, friends, religion, meds, fucking, exercise, liquor, drugs, sobriety, community, drinking 8 cups of water a day. You chose life; what did it give you? Still empty, that hole inside you. When all your repulsive excuse for a brain has left is to scream in rage 'til your lungs hemorrhage at the horror & brutality of existence, & the most empathetic way you have to relate to other living beings is shared & universal spite, living only to be the spit in the eye of the universe - you will have joined The Church.

The Landing Pad (TLP) – We've all been in a place where we need to ground & come back to ourselves. Where our journey can be noisy or overwhelming. We're here to offer peer support & a quiet, safe space to our fellow Blazers in need. This space can be for you or a friend, anybody going through difficult moments. Touching lightly on drug harm reduction & integration in the day, to help eliminate some of the overload. We're the in-between zone to help you land back at Blaze. We'll sit with you, assist you, offer a cuppa & an ear to listen. Not a regular chill spot... but for those in need. It's our debut... Welcome to the Landing Pad.

The Magical Frontier (TMF) – We are a Western style theme camp with a big emphasis on soulful music in a relaxed environment..... At 10pm each night we feed our patrons with toasted sandwiches that are made on our one of a kind toastie station!!

The Poolroom (TPR) – The Poolroom is an on-street walk-in bar and lounge, gifting drinks, hosting events and more. Drop in for a drink, chat and a laugh with the friendly Poolroom crew. The Poolroom... where too much serenity is never enough.

Blazing Swan has changed my life! I'll never forget the incredible sense of belonging and magic that I experienced in this (not so temporary) community being a part of Kamp Koasis in the first year, and then in my many varying roles each year since. Blazing Swan has become an unbreakable community of people, many of whom have become lifelong friends and chosen family. – Vida Barrett

The Question Tent (TQT) – Step inside The Question Tent, a small, intimate space where you can uncover the mysteries of those around you, delve deeper into your relationship with friends, or explore the depths of your own mind. With thought-provoking questions provided & the option to add your own, this cozy hideaway provides the perfect setting for self-discovery and exploration.

The Slackers (SLK) – I haven't actually done a proper submission yet. Sorry, my bad. Can we just put anything in there for now to meet deadline? I'm definitely going to go back in and put in a proper camp description before printing happens. Thanks for that. Been super busy lately but I'm going to get right on it as soon as I clear my plate!

The Sweet Spot (TSS) – The Sweet Spot, often hard to find but when you find it... you'll discover a devilish troupe offering up a wonky mix of sweet temptations and playful libations across the playa. We're home to the PillowDome pillow fight championships and roving Con'Sesh'ional booth. Look out for surprise cherry pop-ups and saucy takeovers, because wherever you find us, it'll be the Sweet Spot!

To Be Confirmed (TBC) – To Be Confirmed...

Treetops (TTP) – Here's a haiku by Turtle: The forest is tall, spiky arms reach to the sky, the hands are treetops.

VALHALLA! (VAL) – During the day it's a shady, chill space to lounge with Viking gods & goddesses in their hedonistic heaven. When the sun goes down, the lights of Asgard flood your senses with more music, dancing, food, mead, & debauchery than you can fit in a longship! Choose to revel in combat at "Eristic Arena" tournaments, try your hand at axe throwing, or have your face immortalized for the gods in Deric Margin's photo booth, because when the Wild Hunt comes, none will be spared!

My favourite memory is still from the first blaze when the biblical rains came, nearly flooding out the entire festival. Papazahn's tent aka God Said YES was dry with power, so we became a refuge and sent crew out to rescue other camps and bring them back to dry themselves by our fires. We danced all night to keep warm together - through the chaos unforgettable friendships and memories were formed.           – Lara Rose Bos

My favourite memory is hard to choose as there are a few, but aside from the many laughs I did always enjoy standing in the middle of the Millennium Falcon on a Saturday night while it was absolutely heaving and seeing everyone enjoying themselves. Great soul food.

Art!

The Effigy and the Temple

The Effigy and the Temple, Blazing Swan's two largest structures and biggest art burns, each have a unique purpose at the event, and their burns are distinctly different.

The Effigy is an artistic structure that brings together our Blaze community in unified celebration. Each year the structure is different in design, corresponding to the event theme and usually featuring a swan. The Effigy Burn is on Saturday, just after sunset. At this time, we gather as a community in celebration, building energy through the fire and drum performance of the Fire Conclave, before releasing the Effigy in pyrotechnic delight. Be sure to arrive well before the scheduled time, to get your spot along the burn perimeter for a great view. Please be aware that the dominant wind direction carries ash and smoke towards Cave Rock and to the northwest, which is not an advisable viewing location.

The Temple is an artistic structure that serves as our community's sacred space. It is a space of quiet reflection, contemplation, and connection. The structure is interactive, with many choosing to write messages on its walls, add photos, and leave mementos that express their thoughts, feelings, and reflections. The structure is open until noon on Sunday morning, after which it is closed to prepare for the Burn. While approaching and visiting this beautiful space, please be respectful and remain quiet. The Temple Burn is at sunset on Sunday. As we gather to watch the burn, we honour the powerful emotions the Temple holds through our collective silence. We respect this sacred space, and in silence watch all that it holds released to the heavens.

Please Note: for all art burns at Blazing Swan, you must stay behind the marked burn perimeter. This is vital to ensuring a safe burn and the future of Blazing Swan. Please respect our Ranger and Sentinel volunteers, follow their instructions, and assist fellow Blazers in doing the same. Thank you.

I think the success of the burn nights is probably the biggest achievement for me. It's when everyone involved gets to let out a sigh of relief and breathe easier, that it all came together and then burned to the ground with the same success. The emotion attached to this is sometimes overwhelming but in the best possible way.

– Rosco Carroll

1 The Effigy

Our Effigy this year is a nomadic Neon Caravan-style tent adorned with a beautiful swan. A place for the weary traveller to take shelter on their pilgrimages or to take a pilgrimage to! Designed this year by a collaboration of your amazing Blazing Swan Committee, the effigy crew, and of course you! Listening to your feedback played a big part in this year's Effigy design. You said it was too small, so we fixed that; it wasn't interactive enough, so we fixed that; it wasn't bright enough, so guess what...

As homage to Blazing Swan's tenth year, each face of the structure will display one of our previous Effigies. A total of eight will be represented, sadly missing the two years that were cancelled. There will also be lots of space inside and out for any artist who wishes to add some temporary or combustible art to help decorate our space.

The interior will feature numerous benches and a bar / DJ space. An in-built sound system will allow guests to play their own music during the day and party at night. The space is open for everyone to use, from morning yoga sessions to arvo lectures on drop bears. See the Effigy notice board for details of events planned and DJ set lists!

None of this is possible without you. It's all of us that make all of this possible and gives us artists the space and encouragement to step outside of ourselves and create the beautiful installations we do. This year's effigy will be the 9th major project I have completed for you all, and I am so looking forward to watching the glow in your faces when the fire takes hold.

– Angus Priest

The temple was not planned for the first year despite everyone wanting to. In the days prior to the first event, I found out that one of my mates, who I met at Burning Man, had passed away. And that was it. It was an amazing experience to have random people help build that first temple, and farmers of Kulin collecting branches to build the first temple. One of my strongest emotional feelings was when the announcement was made for the temple to burn. The community arrived and spontaneous dancing ensued inside the temple. It still brings me to tears recalling that moment. – Wesley Lamont

2 The Temple

Temple Design: Neesh Peacock

Welcome to the Temple of Triscendence. This year as you approach the Temple you will notice that the space extends further than the walls of the main structure. We created this quieter space around the Temple to keep external sounds dull and distant within the Temple walls. As you cross into the Temple, please be mindful of your fellow Blazers and the space they are holding.

Temple of Triscendence unites three parts, representing how we interact with ourselves, each other and the environment. As we contemplate and reflect on these relationships, a deep understanding of our subconscious, conscious and higher selves emerges providing access to a lifetime of learning, relearning and growth.

Our subconscious selves hold all that we learned to survive from a young age. Much of this was bestowed by our ancestors and caregivers. Although useful when we were small and powerless, these parts can persist, and there may be struggle between letting the familiar guide us and trying to unlearn lessons we were taught. When we do not question these teachings, these parts remain predominant, but can become less driving as we learn to study and reflect the undesired actions and impacts. The smaller it becomes, the more malleable it becomes towards new instincts that allow us to connect and love safely, to express our unique creativity, and to positively influence the world.

As we enter new realms, we become aware of our higher selves, a self that understands what our heart desires and where we want to be. This contains our deepest drives and the dreams that constantly push us toward the life we envision. Discomfort may become louder when we work against this. We may find ourselves feeling sad or angry when our journey is not on the right path. This is our best self, striving to be met halfway on a journey that can be uncomfortable and painful but ultimately lights the way forward to a life of truth, peace and love.

Finally, we arrive at the present: our conscious self. No past stories or guaranteed future but a constant regeneration minute by minute. As we let go of stories of the past, the present becomes larger and allows us grounding. With the expansion we can experience pain in unknowingness, much as fire and smoke lead to destruction of the familiar. That which has been destroyed is replaced with rejuvenation, abundance and beauty.

These three structures are separate yet connected as are the different stages of our lives. Each is more visible than we may realize, rising from our actions and interactions. We know time in nature calms us, brings us back to our true selves, and grounds us. This year the altar helps bring us back to nature, carrying with it an abundance of possibilities for growth. It shows beauty in the things that were once alive but now pass on the seeds for new life to begin.

You are encouraged to participate in a symbolic act of catharsis, shed what is obsolete, and embrace the power of renewal. As we burn the Temple, we hope that you let the burdens of the past dissolve into the fire, allowing deeper connection to expression, understanding, and self-acceptance.

Please be mindful that the Temple will close to participants at noon on Sunday to allow for the burn preparation. This closure is observed for the safety of everyone on site and the crew preparing for the burn. We encourage people to visit the Temple throughout the week to engage and take time within the space.

Blazing Swan has made a massive impact in WA arts. It's a fabulously creative community, and I've witnessed the main event, and the fundraisers foster and encourage the skills, confidence, and connections between countless performers and artists. The creativity of so many people has blossomed as a direct result of Blazing Swan, causing a huge evolution in WA performance, music, and visual art.

A delightful fairy tale just waiting to happen. Constructed with only the finest materials from the side of the road and skip bins and crafted with the meticulous nature of eyeballing it and 'yeah nah yeah that'll fit,' the Black Carriage is adolescent word play to Neon Caravan. It's not as funny as Poseidong but you get that. Maybe I'll try better next time. We'll set fire to it on Monday sunset 🙌

7 Tree of Wonder*MINK

Step into a whimsical world where nature and magic intertwine at the Tree of Wonder. Drawing inspiration from the reminiscent feeling of communal gathering spaces found in caravan parks, the Tree of Wonder invites you to take a seat and a load off while you get lost in the magic of nature.

16 The Edge of the Universe

Dre

The universe is boundless in its ever-expanding, cosmic dance of possibilities. Incomprehensible stretches of everything and nothing- the entirety of human existence stuffed into 1 miniscule speck of accidental stardust floating in a sea of matter. Until today, it had no known edges, and it was said that nothing existed outside its clutches. Step away from the known and leave everything behind. When you leave existence, what will you find?

Blazers continued is a giant painting of Blazing Swan in a Where's Wally-esque style. You can be painted into the landscape. I want to fill this canvas with as many Blazers as I can. So put on your best outfit for your portrait as Blazers will be a celebration of the colour and chaos that is Blaze. I will paint every day 10am-4pm. Portraits take ~10 minutes depending on how elaborate your outfit is.

Jackson Harvey

Welcome to Chromasthesia, where we've rigged a piano to some chandeliers in a tree: because, why not? Bang on the keys, watch the lights dance. No drum, no bass, just light, music, and maybe a little magic if you squint right. Come on down, bring your friends for a singalong, and see if it brightens your night.

34 Bureau of Blaze Complaints

Factotum

"Blaze was better last year" is a phrase we've all heard out on the playa time and time again... NOW YOU CAN TELL US HOW! Experts get a change to sit in a comfy chair and vent their issues into the handset of a Vietnam-era field radio. The unit is interactive and gifts "advice" from earlier encounters...

35 11: An official Blazing Swan Arts Project*Peter Roehrig

The 11 Principles, taken from an abstract idea to a physical manifestation. To remind us every time we walk past why we came here, what kind of world we want to live in. The clear lines of aluminium and the transparency of acrylic are transformed by colourful resin inlays. Every observer can fill them with their own meaning.

Ziptie – Once a lawnmower, now a Frankenstein 3-wheeled mud monster.

There is absolutely no reason as to why Blazing Swan exists. We don't need it for housing. We don't need it for art. We don't need it for community or connection. But we choose it. We all make an active choice, a single combined effort, that wills it into existence. Actions behind the scenes that could be unnoticed, matter. Spontaneous moments that only some get to experience, matter. Connections that inspire, resolve, digress, and dissect, matter. It all matters. You matter. Without you Blazing Swan would not exist.

MOOP

Our principle of Leaving No Trace! MOOP (Matter Out Of Place) is exactly that, anything that doesn't belong where it is. This includes everything that was not at Jilakin Rock City before we arrived, such as regular ole' garbage, feathers that fell off your very pretty outfit, or even those rocks you moved to chock your car. Everyone unintentionally MOOPs sometimes, whether you've forgotten where you left your tasty beverage or accidentally knocked over a pan of tasty bacon. So we try to work together as a community to pick up all of our MOOP; someone will definitely dispose of your can for you, so try to do the same if you see any MOOP on the playa. Leave (nothing!) No Trace 😊

Pro tips for MOOP

- Carry around a little ziplock bag or bottle to hold stray MOOP you find
- Do a daily MOOP sweep of your campsite, or hey, even the whole site!
- Smokers can bring or make portable ashtrays: mint tins or film canisters make great butt receptacles
- Be aware of things you're doing that might create MOOP: cutting the ends off zip ties, crafting, doing the washing-up...
- Think ahead when packing for Blaze (& leave your MOOP-y things at home): no one wants to clean up an exploded bean bag, every feather from a blown-away boa, or tiny foil bits from a thousand Easter eggs. You can also take MOOP off your things before you arrive: stickers, plastic wrapping, excess packaging etc.
- DO NOT EVER use a private rubbish bin or dumpster to dispose of your waste, either at the event or in Kulin. The lovely folks in town are very supportive of our event & don't need Blazers filling up their rubbish tips.
- Do a thorough MOOP sweep after you pack up & before you leave. Everyone walk over every inch of your camp, looking for anything that shouldn't be there. This includes items that aren't yours or have clearly been there for a while.

Kulin volunteers are running a donation-based rubbish collection at the event exit on Tuesday. Please donate generously to avoid driving home with your stinky bags of rubbish 😊

The one that just generates pure happiness is the second Blaze. Throwing an absolute banger of a party in Koasis, still to this day is one of the best parties I have been a part of. The janky palace was packed, the coloured festoons dripping through old fans bringing the Koasis vibe, deep house beaming through the sound system, and I remember looking out thinking, something special is really happening out here.

– Aybe Ley

After the Event

Anyone who's been to a Burn before will know about re-entering the default world: it's called decompression, and it can suck. However, there are many ways to process this, and to keep in touch with all the amazing people you're about to meet! It may take you some time to get back into the swing of the 'real' world, so take some time to ground yourself, connect with like-minded friends, and share your experiences.

You can stay in touch & become involved with our community by attending Theme Camp fundraisers throughout the year, finding your new friends via Insta (@blazing_swan) or Facebook (<http://www.facebook.com/groups/OfficialBlazingSwanCommunity/>), or becoming a member of the Blazing Swan association. The non-profit, Blazing Swan Inc., is managed by its members, who set the direction for our community & contribute in many ways. Find out more at www.blazingswan.com.au

It's tough to choose one but seeing the Lip Sync Battle at full noise, hundreds of people stuffed into a 20x15m tent, big speakers belting out classic anthems with the whole crowd singing their hearts out. The energy and level of participation was unexpected and absolutely unforgettable. Having always cued the music for this, I had never lip sync'd. At the final event I was spontaneously pushed on stage with my wife, and we closed that book with a John Farnham classic.

CONSENT COMPASS

Have you aligned yours?

Consent extends not only to people's bodies, but also their belongings & art

An impaired individual can't give consent. Keep it cool and seek sobriety before getting sexy

Don't make assumptions about consent. If you don't know - ask

Consent is FREELY given without guilt or pressure

Boundaries are important. Do you know yours? Do you know theirs?

Don't be afraid to speak up! Be an ally and say something or intervene if you witness something sketchy

Consent can be revoked at ANY TIME. Keep tuned in and check in regularly

Keep the conversation going. Talk to your camp mates about consent!

Consent is ALWAYS COHERENT & ENTHUSIASTIC

Need support? Find our khaki-clad Jilakin Rock Rangers or pink-shirted Consent Crew. Also look out for Blaze's consent allies, who can be spotted wearing sexy pink lanyards.

A massive thank you & sincere appreciation to the creators of our community, who came together to make this all happen 10 years ago. Your drive & tenacity to organise the first official event in only a few short months lives on in each year & in each individual that participates in Blazing Swan.

To celebrate 10 years, this years' WTF included memories and thoughts from Blazing Swan founding members & long-time Blazers. Thank you to those who participated, & sincere apologies to anyone we have missed in the making of this project.

Blazing Swan has been a big part of the last decade of my life and has engendered every emotion known to man, from rage and depression to elation and awe. It has connected me with likeminded people around the world, fostered friendships and opportunities, and challenged me in every way possible. I am so proud of our community and what we have built together. Bringing the spirit of Burning Man to WA was always our dream, and hopefully Blazing Swan will continue to grow and thrive in the future. I love you, now Fuck Off and take your MOOP with you!!

– Cat Connor

Blazing is a slow burn. When I started this journey at Inception, I was not aware how much my world was about to expand. Every year that we hit the dirt a different principle is given deeper meaning, new projects are born, new ideas turn into actions, exciting connections are made. Blaze may only run for a week, but letting the magic spill out into the rest of your year is the true gift this community has to give. Make, think. create. DO!                   – Turtle

The power of Blazing Swan and Burning Man are those 11 principles. It is what sets the ethos of the event and the aims and really sets it apart from nearly every other festival around. I call it a participatory festival, which is something I adore. Having so many people just joining in and contributing is so very wonderful.                   – Wesley Lamont

We have created a culture with many spin-off events using the Principles.                   – Tim Viljoen

I still remember being so excited that a burn was coming to WA. After being out at Nevada I was really inspired in what was possible to create. Community is where it all began. And to me, is still the most important part of Blazing Swan. Blaze quickly became this beacon connecting like-minded people. These connections have had a huge influence on WA's now flourishing festival culture. Through this event, people found a place to unravel a free spirit in all of us. I am forever grateful for my family that I have found here.                   – Aybe Ley

WA now has an amazing, all year 'round, Burner arts, culture and festival community, thanks entirely to Blazing Swan. The fun doesn't end when Blaze does. Just about every weekend there's a festival or fundraiser that brings the community together again in support of each other. I'm sure we have one of the strongest burner communities in the world.                   – Hana Priest

If I can ask one thing of you, it's that you volunteer and help us out in any capacity that you can. It's good for your soul to work with others in creating a strong, joyous, connected, and supportive community. You get paid in smiles, laughter, and the magical feeling that comes from having created something amazing together. — Hana Priest

2014. Blazing Swan Inception. A myriad of memories. So much could be spoken. For me, it is inextricably bound to a point of glorious surrender. The day before the burn, we flew over the Swan in a farmer's plane, and time was suspended. And afterwards, I noticed the huge moths everywhere. Rain moths. And the farmer said there would be 'big rains.' I would have said epic. The things we lost in the river where our camp had once been. Becoming tarp people, collectively willing the Effigy to burn, to blaze. Turn your face upwards, hold out your arms, and feel the mud beneath you. Immediacy Serge, whose land it is, dancing, in the rain, in his undies. Gratefulness. And with the new day comes community in the way burners know it to be.
— Phillipa Scott

Blaze has been a catalyst for change in my life like nothing else. From the first meeting to the first flood, from having the first planned blaze wedding, to creating my first sculpture with my partner, from my first set at GSN, and to a few years later becoming co-lead for GSN it's been a wild 10 years. Keep them coming Blaze!
— Allan Allsop

The great flood is still one of my favourite memories. Going into a Theme Camp with wading through water up to the thigh to find not only was the camp not dead it was still partying hard. Impromptu parties in the toilet blocks were always a great one as well.
— Wesley Lamont

In Memory of Colin ‘Cranky’ Christensen

“Who’s the old guy on the unicycle?” we would hear people say... but sadly this joyful sight and much-loved man, Colin, is no longer with us. Brain cancer took him last year, and it’s with heavy hearts that we say our goodbyes.

Colin was a wonderful man, woven into the fabric of our community from the inception of this event. He always had time for a chat. Some say he talked too much! But... he always made everyone he met feel seen and welcome. He was part of Fire Tribe, and later the Church of Belligerence; he built the ever-impressive Fire Trebuchet, volunteered on Gate Crew, as well as Effigy and Temple Build Teams. Fittingly, we lay his ashes to rest in the Temple this year.

Thank you, Colin, for all the chats, laughs, and years of friendship. Your helpfulness and kindness will not be forgotten, and neither will your fondness for crotch-snuggling lycra. You were a true friend to all who knew you, and a beautiful embodiment of the Burner Spirit. May your flame forever burn long and bright in our hearts.
